

Fairfax Adds $500 To Kidnap Reward

The Fairfax County Board of Supervisors added $500 last night to a reward fund established to obtain information on the disappearance two weeks ago of 10-year-old Patricia Ann Moore.

The Moore girl disappeared after she told her parents she was going to play with a neighborhood friend. Fairfax County police are calling it an abduction.

Clifton residents have contributed $2,500 toward the fund, seeking information pertaining to the whereabouts of the girl or to the apprehension or conviction of those responsible for her abduction.
